Subject: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by cheesesoda on Fri, 26 Sep 2008 16:20:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm getting so fucking sick and tired of hearing about Obama and McCain. Neither moron is going to do a fucking thing for America. It's obvious, yet the American people continue to drone on, supporting whichever candidate they feel is lying the best to them. They don't give a flying fuck about us or our nation. They only care about themselves. They want power, and all they're trying to do is grab that power.

You're a god damn moron to think otherwise.

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by Ryu on Fri, 26 Sep 2008 16:25:08 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

cheesesoda wrote on Fri, 26 September 2008 17:20I'm getting so fucking sick and tired of hearing about Obama and McCain. Neither moron is going to do a fucking thing for America. It's obvious, yet the American people continue to drone on, supporting whichever candidate they feel is lying the best to them. They don't give a flying fuck about us or our nation. They only care about themselves. They want power, and all they're trying to do is grab that power.

You're a god damn moron to think otherwise.

I wonder what would happen if no-one votes, lol.

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by cheesesoda on Fri, 26 Sep 2008 17:20:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Martial law would probably set in. :\

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by bisen11 on Fri, 26 Sep 2008 17:20:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Vote for Ron Paul, because a vote for Ron Paul is a vote for happyness.

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by R315r4z0r on Fri, 26 Sep 2008 20:48:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

cheesesoda wrote on Fri, 26 September 2008 12:20I'm getting so fucking sick and tired of hearing about Obama and McCain. Neither moron is going to do a fucking thing for America. It's obvious, yet the American people continue to drone on, supporting whichever candidate they feel is lying the best to them. They don't give a flying fuck about us or our nation. They only care about themselves. They want power, and all they're trying to do is grab that power.

You're a god damn moron to think otherwise.
I agree!

Focus on running the country, not beating the other guy!

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by liquidv2 on Sat, 27 Sep 2008 08:57:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

george bush for a third term!

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by danpaul88 on Sat, 27 Sep 2008 09:13:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

cheesesoda wrote on Fri, 26 September 2008 17:20I'm getting so fucking sick and tired of hearing about Obama and McCain.

Same here, and I am not even in the USA. Our news channels keep going on and on and on and on about them, and I really couldn't give a flying fuck at this point. Is nothing else happening in the world apart from these two people trying to get elected? Jeez...

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by IronWarrior on Sat, 27 Sep 2008 12:52:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I'm always pissed off with American Politics when it comes around, it always takes up too much air time and fills the papers with the daily bullshit.

Politicians are all the same.

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by u6795 on Sat, 27 Sep 2008 13:23:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Anybody watch the debate last night?

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by NukeIt15 on Sat, 27 Sep 2008 17:30:47 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In the age of instant global communication and given the ability to travel anywhere in the country inside twelve hours, there is no reason whatsoever that politicians should be allowed to start campaigning more than a month before any given election.

Here's how I'd like to see it go:

Candidates begin their internal campaigning leading up to primary elections ~February. The primaries are then held in March, after which the candidates are required by law to stop campaigning and return to their goddamn jobs until October. This not only allows the people a breather from bullshit and obnoxious political ads, but it also forces the candidates to make their respective cases through the quality of their work during the intervening months (which would naturally be under scrutiny). Come October, the candidates are then allowed to begin campaigning again. They will hold an open-to-public debate at the end of each week. Any candidate found to be accepting or using additional campaign funds between March and October will be immediately stricken from the ballot and their party will not be allowed to select an alternate. This will encourage compliance. There will be no surprise VP announcements designed to create a last-minute swell of support, as the candidates will be required to declare their VP choices immediately following the primaries in March.

Additionally, any party that misses the registration deadline to be placed on the ballot in any state will bloody well not be placed on the ballot anyway just because they're so influential. I'm looking at you, Texas Republicans and Democrats (yep, both of 'em missed it and it probably won't matter.).

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by archerman on Sat, 27 Sep 2008 18:13:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

vote 4 paris hilton ftw!

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by Muad Dib15 on Sat, 27 Sep 2008 20:14:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

u6795 wrote on Sat, 27 September 2008 08:23Anybody watch the debate last night?

Since my bro was watching a movie, I went on to CBS and watched/listened to a live webcast of it while browsing teh intarwebs. Fucking boring. All they did was rip on each other, THEN talk about what they were going to do.

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by u6795 on Sat, 27 Sep 2008 20:22:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I watched the last half of it and I think Obama did rather well. McCain seemed somewhat unprepared and mostly concentrated on "WELL IM MORE EXPERIENCED AND BARACK OBAMA IS GENERALLY JUST WRONG." That sort of annoyed me.

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by nikki6ixx on Sat, 27 Sep 2008 21:29:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

u6795 wrote on Sat, 27 September 2008 15:22I watched the last half of it and I think Obama did rather well. McCain seemed somewhat unprepared and mostly concentrated on "WELL IM MORE EXPERIENCED AND BARACK OBAMA IS GENERALLY JUST WRONG." That sort of annoyed me.

I actually found that to be the opposite. However, I was listening by radio, which presents the debate in a totally different light.

For example, when I first heard Obama saying something along the lines of 'McCain was right' , I didn't figure it was much, if anything, it was a recognition of both men's desire to be bi-partisan, but when I heard similar lines throughout the debate, I was a bit surprised that Obama 'let himself go'.

Now I wasn't able to see his actions at the time, his eye contact, etc, but just coming from the radio, it sounded like he was off his game. Over the air, McCain sounded more grounded.

Keep in mind I was in traffic, so perhaps McCain's speaking style was just easier to pay attention to while trying to dodge traffic in a shitty Econoline.

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by Muad Dib15 on Sat, 27 Sep 2008 23:12:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Actually, it was exactly the same thing with Nixon and Kennedy. People that watched the debate on TV thought that Kennedy won, while people that listened to the debate on the radio thought that Nixon won. Its a two way thing. But they both did pretty good speaking wise. Obama wasn't doing his uhh, uhh, errmm, uhhhh routine that time.

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by cheesesoda on Sun, 28 Sep 2008 02:47:23 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

NukeIt, I've been following that Texas bullshit for the past two weeks or so. The Texas Supreme Court denied the lawsuit without ANY comment, at all. It's obvious that bureaucracy is king in America. Hooray for a the destruction of our republic when our own politicians are incapable and UNWILLING to obey the law.

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by Muad Dib15 on Sun, 28 Sep 2008 12:03:13 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Rush Limbaugh said that in his book "The way things should be" in 1991 or 1992. Its absolutely ridiculous. And the thing is, many people don't know this.

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by Starbuzzz on Mon, 29 Sep 2008 20:58:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

A bit late on this but IMHO, I think both candidates performed well in the debate.

Only thing that worried me was McCain's spiteful body language. He was aggressive, impatient and needlessly kept bringing Obama into dispute. He even literally gnashed his teeth when he said something about how Obama being in a subcommittee should not have stopped him from visitng Iran and Afganistan.

Subject: Re: AHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH
Posted by BlueThen on Wed, 01 Oct 2008 19:37:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

cheesesoda wrote on Fri, 26 September 2008 11:20I'm getting so fucking sick and tired of hearing about Obama and McCain. Neither moron is going to do a fucking thing for America. It's obvious, yet the American people continue to drone on, supporting whichever candidate they feel is lying the best to them. They don't give a flying fuck about us or our nation. They only care about themselves. They want power, and all they're trying to do is grab that power.

You're a god damn moron to think otherwise.
It's near election time, what else did you expect?