Sigh: I don't like posting links to this site...

Edit:
In light of Ryan3K's points, I will now label this with:

I apologise for not labelling the link as such earlier.

Bear in mind that not all of that is entirely true, but you can get the gist.

Pretty much all of it was true. ACK used to be a self-important douche who was much to eager to put down and make fun of the work of new modders, while boasting about his own (sub-par) mapping abilities. Eventually, he ended up as a laughing stock because of some drama at the APB forums and left.

I'm starting to think maybe it isn't so bad being relatively new to using the renegade public forums. Because if I joined when I started this game, I would remember who all these stupid people everyone talks about are lol.

I thought it would have been fun to be around when Renegade was first released, I don't remember what year it was but I was playing RA2 around the time it was released probably but had no knowledge(other than seeing it on the back of my CD case lol) or interest in it then.

No.

Whilst I see your point, it's not that explicit, and it served the purpose of explaining who ACK was, what he had done, thus answering the question.

At the time I was a 34 yr old man, battling ACK back in THE-Pitts heyday, and yes, I am now man enuf to admit that maybe he hurt my feelings a couple of times but I never HATED the man, and now that he is six years older and a family man maybe it is time to forgive and try to forget the past and try to ENJOY the new improved and MUCH mellower ACK and what he has to post and contribute to the Renegade community.

I'm always on yes (mother nature, fail internet, and microsoft resetting my pc excluded). It is a way for people to leave message for me when I'm not around, it also allows me to checkin/look back and make sure everything is going ok. I can also be doing other stuff on the computer and still be aware of what is going on with n00bstories too.

lol just because it is always on doesn't mean I am always here. Like I said it allows me to checkin when I've been gone and look back to make sure I didn't miss anything that needs my attention. N00bstrories is a community not a business ... it also isn't mine. My computer never shuts off and no it doesn't buuuuuuuuurn ... though I'm not really sure why you think it would. Sir_Kane is a long time member of the community.

Heh, funny to read about this after not having visited this forum at all in such a long time (I did make a post in the TT section when it was announced, but checked nothing else). I though the whole ACK thing and mod bitch fights would have been long forgotten around here.

Anyway, ACK mostly acted like a bastard wherever he could, the reputation he has was his own doing.

I personally can never forget about ACK, especially when I'm the one having to fix his maps for APB.

Still though, I haven't seen him post anywhere in a very long time, so maybe his attitude changed now... Who knows.
