I wouldn't call myself experienced though I will post. I have loved flying since the beta. One thing I would highly recommend is locking the camera to the turret via options. For dogfights get as much height as you can while firing machine guns. Once you reach the max height fly backwards, this will target your machine gun upwards and allow you to hit them if they also go so high. On most flying maps you will find you are sniper bait. Try avoid open fields. A lot of points can be stacked up for example on field by hitting the harvester with minimum risk. Try to always attack vehicles as really only apc's pose a threat. I would really say you learn though trial and error. Hope you manage to improve! [ February 05, 2003, 14:33: Message edited by: Mobius ]
