Who says that Sakura has to charge into the c4? Only a moron would do that. What I mean is that the Sakura would kill you, buy a free engineer or tech, and disarm at least one of the timed. While doing this, she raises the alarm, and as the remaining timed goes off, it brings the building down to red...but does no better than that (one timed plus two remotes does not destroy an entire building). As a tech, plus with a few engies coming, the building will not be destroyed, even if an assault comes- everybody on the other team was prepared for it.
