I hate it when some newbies can't take a little advice. If I see someone doing something wrong then I tell them how to do it better. In field the other day some guy in a stealth tank was trying to shot from the Nod entrance. He was trying to hit the GDI tanks that were on the other side of the map at the GDI entrance. I private message he/she "you need to learn the range of a stealth tank". The immediate reply was "FU". I said, "hey dude, I'm trying to help you out here. what's up with the attitude". You try helping someone out and you get abuse instead. Yeesh.
