*starts singing*If only I had broadband....Yes, spammers are MUCH worse than people who don't talk...You can, believe it or not, communicate your intentions through your actions much better than in words. Say, if you run in front of an engine with an APC or hummer. Or if you team up with another medium tank. Pretty soon, you have a good rush. Here's the solution to rambos: follow 'em. If they're in a mammy, get a medium tank to help with the inevitable defenders. If you're an engineer and see a lone tank, repair it. Rambos cease to be rambos when they have someone else tagging along.
