The best way to counter this is to prepare a flame rush. All the times I've seen this happen, the GDI team usually gives it away by securing that position until they can afford beacons. This means they're not reconnoitering. Smart teams flame rush. n00bs stay behind and ***** about it not being fair. The ref for an entire base? Seems fair to me. And also you CAN thwart this if you have three techs repairing while the shots are coming down - it's all a matter of getting people willing to give up their SBHs or Mendozas to serve the greater good.
