Black hand stealth work well, you can put your timed c4 on the sniper from behind. They can hear the beep though, but its not as if they can disarm the c4 in time. I did get some c4 on the snipers head once, that I must admit was funny! You just need to get away quickly. I do find "walking mines" good for base defence, you need someone willing to stay about the base will a load of c4 on them. Although the mine limit does sort of stop such tactics on most maps.
