One of my favorite places to steal a tank from the enemy is on Hourglass..... you can be on either team with any character class.... when they assault to the left or right go into tunnels and take the side exit.... tell your teammates what you are doing at this point and have them hurt a tank.... wehn the tank backs off they usually hop out and repair themselves right by the entrance to the tunnel....hop in the tank and tell your teammates to charge... when they do the tanks with retreat right into you and they have no escape.... its good for breaking up almost any assault.... (and you dont need a stealth trooper)
