I was a Hotwire so could have taken out the ref with a timed and been able to damage another building.....There is a 30 c4 limit on any server. So the 9 you left for defense has to cover your entire base. You could have used the remote you carry and the timed to take the building out. Thank you again Please educate all your N B Buddies on how you did it.. Then try not to be on my team because I'll be the one blowing up your base which you have left undefended. Also if you were killed before you detonated the remote It would have stayed where you left it. I'd stand there watching to see if the c4 dissappears from your little car telling my teammates to rush like hell because all the enemy's c4 is sitting in our base "Hit the buildings guys they are not c4 protected"
