When you can't even walk through a door or around a corner because it lags too much then you can be Thresh himself, you'll still get whapped. Even slight lag can make you miss the MCT with C4 which has lost me a few games in the past. Yea, but then again, I don't see any people on the servers where you can't walk through the door. Most people have some limit to howmuch lag they can withstand without getting a headache.
