I see so many players constantly going for cheap pts every game every time i play with them. You can make a bet that that same person will be on the top of hourglass shooting at the ref with an artillery, or MRLing the hand from base on islands, or basically finding any nook and shooting non-stop at buildings contributing nothing to winning in every game. These are the players that will watch a hotwire/tech run into the building while shooting uselessly at nothing in their tank and do nothing about it. Or will never fix you when its needed, or rather shoot at an enemy building as an APC/HUMMER/BUGGY drives right past them. 1 name for somebody who does this is a player with the nick "Iranoob"
