Well, I don't have a super fast cable modem like the big cities with their 4.1 Mbps cables, so you don't have to worry about me slowing you down. Small town, cable service, 256K is sufficient... for now. If you think this is off topic to the forum it is in, you are wrong. It is a strategic importance for me to play ladder games in the morning, and all I am doing is asking what time of day is best for you, as it helps you go up in ranks. During the evening hours I don't play ladder games because I always end up getting on that team that just doesn't play like a team, so I avoid the evening hours for ladder.
