I am here to inform all of you who inhabit the Strategy forum of a weakness that the Tiberium Refinery has against Helicopters. What you do is you buy a heli and a nuke, and maybe a special character (though not really needed), then fly over to the enemy refinery. Once there, fly up and jump out right above the harvestor unloading place. You're helicopter will promptly blow up (haven't found a way to avoid this), and you should have time to plant a nuke on their refinery. Then you escape the base using any means necessary, and watch the fireworks.
