I have been playing since the first day of release, and I NEVER use the radio commands. the radio commands for Renegade are useless. WW should have never implemented them. If they wanted a successful voice communication system, they should have made it like RTCW's.Go to your base with a damaged tank. Wait and see what happens. Then try going to your base with a damaged tank and saying "I need repairs!". See the difference?If you honestly don't see a difference then you are strange, 'cause I can.
