it's good to see people praising the gdi side of things for once. since the game came out, all i read was that the flame tank was too good and the mammy was too lame. nobody seemed to like the gdi(well, almost nobody). i've been saying since march that the sides are equal and it's teamwork, not vehicles that wins the games. maybe finally players are "getting it" and realize that gdi can kick @ass just as much as nod. i myself prefer mediums most of the time when i'm gdi and the stealth tank for nod, though the st needs room to maneuver. it's not always a wise decision to buy one on some maps(like hourglass for example). anyway, i'm glad to see more players coming around to my way of thinking on the balance issue!
