That's the big problem with those radio commands. Example
When i say building needs repair then
1. I'm repairing it and can handle it on my own.
2. I'm defending it and need someone to repair it.
In other words when i use a command i mean it.
Only use the radio commands when you need them.
I hate those people who hear Power plant under attack. And says building needs repair while he's on the other side of the map.
