well we did the king of the hill thing friday night. there was 5 players most of the time, then stonerook showed up to make it 6. because of the low turnout, we forced the stealth to remain in his base for the search. it was fun, but soon the guys were getting bored and started buying vehicles, planting nukes, etc., so we ended the game. it was a good try anyway, thanks to all who played! any other suggestions for a different kind of game would be appreciated. thanks again guys!
