Important enough? Isn't this a "tactics" forum? Jeez. I'm sorry to flame you, but I'm even sicker of the folks who think they know what belongs on this board than I am with those who post questions that have already been asked.Anyway....I used to think a mine counter would be a good idea (and still do sometimes),but I also think it makes it too easy to tell when someone is disarming c4 to sneak into your base. You should be able to disarm enemy c4 succesfully unless you are spotted visually by their team...this just seems fair. With a counter, you would instantly see the systematic reduction of your mine count, and know you had an intruder.Maybe that would be a good thing.I haven't decided yet....
