Hey amd can you tell me why it is that you spend all your time making a lame map, that sucks and is full of bugs. As well as creating skins that are no more than an alteration of the original skins and just look like they've been plain dipped in a vat of sh*t. Rather than actually curtailing that newbiness in you that seems to find it necessary to Flame me rather than stand up to me like the 'manchild' you are and face me in a game. Or is it because you've got a nice case of arthritis in that finger of your from hitting alt+1 over and over. 'I need repairs'"I need repairs" I need repairs' Oh and before you put up another lame little post up in reply to me. That person is right you're giving me exactly what I want. You think in your own little head that what you're doing is funny, but more or less I've got you wrapped up posting and reading all the posts with regards to what my original post and to what people have replied to your posts. Your showing me that you're either a skinny little nerd with too much time on his hands, too many pimples, and too but* ugly to get a date. Or you're some pathetic obsessive guy who can't seem to get over the fact that I called him a Newb, even though it's true I'll take it back. And I'll hope that you can move on and start to learn how to socialize and maybe if you're lucky then one day you'll land a nice cyber date with some hairy prison inmate. Who will in his own loving way make you his b*tch. Oh and don't worry Ack I already know you care, your overwhelming number of posts that regard me show me how much you care. Take care of yourself you very special little boy, and don't forget that even special people like yourself deserve to be loved.
