Sorry to all those who think i'm not a team player.....let me stress that i'm NOT A TEAM PLAYER and never will be....I don't care what you say or what you do I have enough skill to hold my own and thats all I ask of everyone on my team no more no less..... I expect people to use common sense which is why I yell at the morons on my team if they disregard the fact that their power plant is being killed.....and yes i am much better than you ninja I realize that a girl being much much better than you at a trivial thing such as a game gets you angry and you like to push up you own ego by putting me down.....and if you think that this is not a single player game maybe you should realize that this is a tournament of individuals and if you want to be so all high and mighty on winning team games why don't you take your n00b butt and stick to playing clan games
