My main point is that if people would treat their tanks better and get better tank skills they wouldn't need engis,techs, or hotwires to follow them....and if you have read my posts on how to get good tank skills then maybe you wouldn't be sounding so dumb right nowSee, that's exactly it though. Everyone isn't going to be like that, and if you cared anything about winning and playing the game like it should be played, you wouldn't be like that. But you're all about your ranking for some reason, whether it makes you feel good, or makes people think you're good. Renegade claims it's a game that requires team work to win, well, it is. Unfortunately, the point system is screwy, and you could be a top 5 player with a losing record, which doesn't show any "know-how" of how to win the game. But if it makes you feel better, do it I guess.
