Killing infantry with a flame tank is easy just get their heads in the blue part of the flame....its easiest if you mount the camera on the gun so that you can tilt the camera up while getting the flame near their head....you can tilt the camera up and be able to see their life meter easily....this will help you to determine if you are or are not aiming correctly and with time you'll be able to do it over and over..... it takes practice but you can easily take down infantry, provided you get close enough to them[April 13, 2002: Message edited by: C4kitty]
