You guys that complain have no idea what programmers have to do all day just to even sometimes get one thing like air vehicles working. They have to think, write code, think, compile, think, debug, think, test, think, fix, rewrite if needed, almost fall asleep but gets coffe, repeat.... all day... sometimes. Think about the bugs they want to fix, that you want fixed. There evil bugs right? that means that they are difficult little evil s. They take long time of trial and error, logical thinking, and sleep depravation. WW staff works hard, why do you think they don't reply to all of this crap? They are too busy to reply about this and they don't care about what hateful things you have to say cuz their working hard for your whinning little mouths.
