Maybe they will or are right now working hard on these situations, only time will tell, if you run a company and don't listen to customer feed back you are only harming your future, I can't imagine them being that stupid, mind you look at what happened to Kmart?I just bought JK2 and it is so user friendly and well polished it is hard to brleive just how simple and user friendly it is, it's like made for a F in 3 year old, but all th options etc are right there and at your finger tips, what I suggest is that AE has a close look at it and try to follow suit, but guys, I really think they are going to be putting out a real nice patch with the air units, they figure why put out 3-4 patches, put it all in one, they are giving the demo out by the millions in this months gaming mag, so they definatly have no given up on Renegade, they are spending millions on marketing right now, not last week, now. So we'll just have to wait and see, what pees me off is in the past I would NEVER buy new titles, I'd wait 1 year to let them come down in price and bug to be gone and never had these problems, if you want to spend full price day 1, like the idiot I have become, you get this grief, maybe this will be a lesson to EA, their shareholders need to hear what's up and they'd be dumping their stock maybe? Again time will tell. What a waste to type this all out and have it erased, I think I made a fair assesment?
