quote: don't like using vehicles to rush in. You either abandon it(letting the enemy get it so your maximum for vehicles goes down by one)or you sit there untill it is destroyed(so when you get out everyone knows you are there and you don't last 2 seconds). Yes, but that is not an issue when playing GDI on City because if you know what you're doing, the vehicle will blow close to the HoN or Airstrip and you'll be close enough to just run in. Also, the Hummer is vulnerable to mines so when the HoN is mined in the newbie-ish way (which it almost always is) use the hummer and you'll blow up the mines, get rid of the extra vehicle AND make most people think you failed the rush and died.
