Are all you harvester drivers sick of having idiots block your route in and out of the base? You all know that the trucks are not equipped with horns or communications, Ok, you can either jump out and steal the persons vehicle, then let the harvester crash into a wall or something, but I have found it's best to just hit the throttle and ram the beggar out of the way, sure it pees them off, but maybe next time they watch where they park? I know I'm going to get flamed on this one but I just had to speak out!
