I was playin a game some time back....I think it was a WOL Forum Game....Anyways, the map Was "Under" and I was playing as Nod.Nothing happened for a couple minutes (as games usually do) but it started roaring pretty quickly. Rush after rush after rush, we lost many tanks.A large strategy was organized.... this is how it went. 3 stealth black hands with beacons went down the tunnels. When they get to GDI's tunnel, 2 flame tanks would spray in the tunnels to clean it out. Then an engineer would get rid of a few mines. Well, needless to say... it failed. But it sounded like a good plan, didnt it?
