ha multi play practice is a joke!!! one thing i can suggest though is don't get online until you take out that nod base completely before time runs out! or get online get a feel then practice on taking nod base out in time limit!at least it will help you get a sense of the game with multiplayer but the only way is to just jump into a game online unfortunatly for good players everyone has to be a newbie at some point!!i had a tank stuck once in between a light post and enemy building i just couldn't get it out one enemy was killing my tank other enemy was engineer repairing my tank! i would have been there all day finally committed suicide----another question does the tank die with you when you do this! i think it does but if anyone can comfirm this??
