nOOby one knOOby makes a good point...one of the best things you can do to protect yourself against an incoming rush is to block your opponents with an apc BEFORE they get close enough to the tower to be out of rocket range. When they get right next to the tower, it stops firing, so the best thing you can do is to sacrafice your vechilce and ram the tanks back out into AGT, or OBI range. Hard to do, but easy to set up for. And, I agree that the APC is best at this. It is a suprisingly strong rammer...ahem...so to speak.
