I know you all hate getting killed as engy, we are so dam helpless, but I have found by simply throwing a few mines down as you run away from attacker, they foolishly follow you most times it's crazy, don't try to chase them throwing mines at them it works only rarely and only if their health is down and you end up getting damage yourself in explosions, simply lad and run around a corner if available. Just make sure you have a handy key mapped to mines. I hate when like 3 engys get slaughtered like sheep while repairing, I realize you don't want to jepordize your 30 mine limit but in most cases you have a few to spare?
