Should add that if possible lay mine at head height. Mine at head height does so much damage, it only require 2 to 3 to kill a man. Compares to the mine on the ground which sometimes only do about 30 damage if you are careful enough. I often lay mine very tactically such as on the inside wall of the door with one on each side or just round the corner. The Hand of Nod is the favourite for me to lay mine. I even have over 8 kills in 5 minutes just using mines. The Hand does not have a lot of room to dodge mines so two per a door then one on each side of the passageway finally two close to the MCT on the wall at head height. In that setup I have killed several hotwire Mobius and prototype assault suit eventually the GDI give up on blowing up the Hand by C4 on MCT.
