You'll get an ulcer complaining about every noob tactic and thought provoking thing you see them do. It's not unheard of that you buy a vehicle at the same moment someone else buys the vehicle..but you get yours and he doesn't. They OBVIOUSLY didn't see that their money didn't change from the purchase..so they think YOU are stealing THEIR freshly bought vehicle...which just didn't happen. How about instead of treating noobs like idiot cattle, try letting them know what happened. Half the time they won't understand what the hell your saying to them..but there's the off chance a noob will figure it out...from your instruction...and be a better, more patient player for it. My 2 cents.[April 04, 2002: Message edited by: [FSW]WhiteWolf]
