The best way to counter that (in my opinon) is to set up am ambush before they even get to your base. Set some mines, hide, then circle the tanks keeping behind them at all times while shooting them / setting C4 on them. You will very likley die (since the nme will likley have infantry suport), but you will at the very least slow them down. If your lucky they start hitting each other as they attempt to charcoal you .
