Guess we can live and hope huh? You'd think they'd let us know what they are so it'd prevent all the 'third-party' hackers ripping their programmes apart to find them!! know of a number of people who do this sort of thing and when done cracking the pprogrammes, make f****ng copies of the games to sell to others for a couple of quid! People like that may be kewl for finding cheats, but make the games developers bump-up prices due to all the pirated games!
