In reply to Andee54, I agree completely!! I have played loads of games which I have wished I had cheats for as they were so darned frustrating!! I played through Baldurs Gate I/II without cheats and then again with...and in all honesty enjoyed it just as much the second time as I didn't have to worry so much about money etc and just concentrated on the most important aspect of the game...FUN! Many FPSs' have a limit on ammo you can find, this game being one of them, and I for one sometimes wish I had a little more sniper ammo (for instance) and I consider myself a darned good shot! So for those out there who maybe are new to FPSs' or just need a little more firepower/health, I think anyone who has access to cheats for the single player mode should stop *****in' and just help those people out. After all, isn't this a Tactics & strategy forum or a kiddies school playground? We're not here to call names but to share info and help those who are having problems!!
