The mammoth can take out any other unit if the driver can aim well (as I do). Moving targets are no problem, even infantry at long range can be dealt with. The size makes it easier to hit but it also makes it easier to fire, a light tank can't shoot above anything. If everybody starts with 5000, what stops GDI from buying 10 mammoths? Or lets say they get 3 mammoths, 2 MRS and a bunch of Hotwires?. What chance do NOD have if GDI also protect the base and tunnels? The MRS can easily reach the tiberium refinery, airstrip and hand of NOD while the mammoths provide cover. 3 mammoth can easily take out the obelisk if they sacrifice one. NOD are chanceless if GDI knows what they are doing.
