what ive seen usually happens from a 0 credit start is this: gdi takes feild, holds for a while, nod sneaks up and takes over, and then it's any amn's game from there. if gdi attacks the nod harvester they basically screw the entire nod team and can from there establish a good lead. if they try to be aggressive though nod beats em up and takes the feild back. gdi is basically default win if both sides play a perfectgame, because they can control the feild from the begining.
