I really do think that the ability to view/edit/use Westwood's W3D files is an excellent idea. I also don't have too much of a problem if someone wants to view how I did something, it will only excel the quality of modding going around. Nobody likes their stuff to be used without permission though. People who do use other modders' files without permission have a problem, but there isn't much that can be done about it. We can only hope to trust eachother. I think this is a good tool, even though it can be used for evil (as with most everything.) If someone does steal something, however, I'm sure that webmasters hosting the files will cooperate in taking the file down when the evidence is shown, as well as the theif being made notorious in the community.
