Sakura is on the way I've got her made into one mesh now.....I'll include her with the final release. So now you will get both male and female skeletons.....both fully animateable....as well as a tutorial to show you how to apply westwood skin bindings and assign veritces to biped characters. I will also be including the original westwood s_a_human, and s_b_human base skeletons so that you can make new compatible animations for multiplay applications More when i get this done.....i am multi tasking at the moment.....i have three projects going on simultaneously.
