Hey bump, you should make it not so go to high up, this letting the turret move freely. I want it! This gives me a idea of a Twisted Metal Mod Ack, Think about it, the team would be more worried about Bigger Structures then the other ones... I mean, what Emeny in thier right mind would just fire at a repair pad... when they can sneak by it and blow the main buildings, or pedding with infantry, or even stanks or a med rush...? Simple, plant a nuke and the tank would come out, thinking he could get a easy kill. Blow the Repair pad then, then finish the tank! But, the Flat Pads do present the best design, Your right about that.
