Not being very accustomed to low poly renderings, I have finally finished the low poly version of the model, 451 polys after extensive reworking. Not quite the graphic representation I was looking for, but still retains the general form. <http://www.angelfire.com/rpg/lordqane/index.html> I am still working on both a vehicle chassis counterpart as well as a stationary mounting, not sure which one I will keep, so I am going to test them both and see how it turns out. The original model I never could get below 1400 polys, so for the moment, it will be placed into the archives.
