aircraftkiller2001:You don't want to learn about it. You want to learn how to steal the technique.But just for your information, there's no way of making Westwood Light Tabulation files without their tools or without Abjab's W3D tools, which will quite likely never be released.Sorry, Mr.

Aircraftnerd2001, but I'm looking for useful comments, not useless piece of internet trash, which is usually what you post.And remember, it's Tabulation, not "Tablulation". quote:Originally

That's nice, kid. Keep copying me as you always do. You can't even formulate your own expressions, you sad ****er.If you're not looking for useful comments, then get the hell out of the forums. If you can't take the heat, kid, don't go into the kitchen. I gave you what you needed to know... Now you can leave the community alone and go steal from another one.Is there anyway you could be more of a bi*chEnd that with a question mark, son. After all, you're asking one.Maybe you didn't know that.Yep, I guess you can. Why do you even stay in these forums? You seem to be such a **** that it almost seems like you hate anyone that makes a bad comment towards you. Why would you be anywhere near someone you hate?
