There's only one thing I disagree with, and that is the time lapse for different vehicles. This will just mean that GDI n00bs who build mammoth tanks won't just give Nod points but will also take up time at the WF. Also I think you left out that there should be a kick vote option. Renegade is one of only a few games that don't allow you to kick someone who is lammer. Personally I think it helps admins not have to police every action and it makes non-admin games much more playable. Just a thought the rest is really good though.
