ACK so your saying that people that stay up untill three in the morning produce good maps. So on behalf of my good friend here please before you flip on another person think of this. YOU may be a mapping guru because you stay on the comp editing them for hours on end no conflict there and you do make good maps. But Renegade is not just about you alright different people have different tastes SO you may not like his maps but I KNOW PLENTY of people that like some of his maps. Now if he finished and added Antartica to his arsenal then he would be a VERY good mapper. [ December 11, 2002, 14:20: Message edited by: Slicer238 ]
