My server will be down and out around June 30th. My website will also be gone. I still havn't been able to get a job here in DC, and I am being forced to move out of my apt at the end of the month. I will not be able to afford keep my current 1.1 SDSL service. If you wish to make a donation the gesture is very appreciated but its just too late.I have enjoyed playing with the various regulars who visit my server, and from what I am told my server is/was one of the better ones. I will miss it as much as everyone else.I will most likely be offline indefinitely. If I can find a free dialup or something I may hop on to see whats up from time to time.I am going to try to find a volunteer to host my domain and website until I find a job and can afford to host it again. I will make sure to let everyone know where my site has moved to, so that people can continue to download BlazeRotate and share soundpacks.
