Since you said to update you in the readme file, take out the Repair Pads. They were released by Bumpaneer, although he took them down because he admitted they weren't his, but only a model he touched up for someone. The person who originally made them only wants their use with one map designer. If you want Repair Pads, you will have to design them yourself. Them's the breaks. Sorry to inform you about that. The Helipads are yours, however. Just take out the Repair Pads and everything will be fine.
