Sir Phoenixx But solely because the Akula doesn't, they're supposedly ugly, completely disregarding the fact that they're not based off of the real Akula but off of the Red Alert missile sub's rocket launchers.

No, they are ugly for different reasons.

It doesn't have to look like a real Akula, but for pete's sake man, think about this.

Why design a sleek submarine to glide through the water, and then stick two large launchers on the outside of the vehicle to create huge drag?

Real or not, it's a serious design flaw for a mod that prides itself on detail. I do understand why you can't do it with vert launchers, but this is what he is getting at.
