A simple Hi would have done. Also what is with your name it's huge, and looks like somehting a n00b would have written. Also just to let you know, this isn't the nicest community in the world . . . and I think everyone has a valid excuse for what they have said, there have been several people that come here starting trouble, Sw33t and Alkaline are the only people I can remember off the top of my head.

But anyways, I will depart with a simple Hello.
