
Subject: Edwards Running as VP

Posted by Nukelt15 on Fri, 09 Jul 2004 00:06:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

And you're a fool if you think it's cheap. Car insurance ain't got nothing on what doctors pay to protect their livelihood. In some places, the average annual income of a middle-lower class family is lower than the price for malpractice insurance. Most of those insurance policies run in the $2-5 million range. And the insurance company always tries their hardest to reduce the amount they have to pay out, even at the expense of the policy holder.

And every time some dipshit decides to sue, the premiums skyrocket.
